World War II Veteran's Aggie Ring Resolution

Whereas: At the onset of World War II, several Aggies were drafted into the military whether or not they had received the required credits for receiving their ring. And upon their return the University had changed the requirements for their rings; and

Whereas: When they returned, they had two choices, to spend two more years at the University and fulfill their requirements or to go to the University of Texas and graduate within the semester; and

Whereas: With only these options, they chose to graduate from the University of Texas and never receive their Aggie Ring, and

Whereas: To this day, these veterans still bleed maroon and make contributions to the university, and

Whereas: We should seek to provide these veterans with the opportunity to order and receive their Aggie Ring just as others in the past.

Therefore

Let it be

Resolved: That the Senate of Texas A&M University supports the veterans request to receive their rings and will encourage the Aggie Ring Association to grant these World War II Veterans request.
